The Best Light, and Only the Best, Is Good Enough for the Progressive Business Establishment. . . .

Think of investing thousands of dollars in merchandise, fixtures, decorations, &c., besides spending considerable money in rent and help, and then using an inferior form of light. True, there are not many merchants who are so "peny-wise and pound-foolish." But still there are a few who think they are economizing when they save a dollar or two a month on light bills, no matter what the results are or how their stores appear.

Don't be one of the few, Mr. Merchant. Use ELECTRIC LIGHT, and customers will be attracted to your store. You'll be surprised at the reasonable bills you will receive.

CONGRESS AT FAULT

Former Interne Defends Insane Asylum Officials.

MORE MONEY SORELY NEEDED

Impossible to Improve the Deplorable Conditions at the Washington Asylum Until Congress Increases the Appropriation, Dr. Conatas Declares—Staff Doing Best They Can.

"If the patients at the Washington Asylum Hospital do not receive proper attention, it is not the fault of Dr. Hickling, the physician in charge of the institution. I am not surprised there are complaints, and complaints there will continue to be as long as the powers that make appropriations for the hospital disregard the recommendations made annually by the physician in charge, by the superintendent, and the Commissioners of the District."

The above comprises the opinion of Dr. John Nicholas Conatas, 925 New York avenue, who spent over a year at the institution as interne physician. "In the first place, there is entirely too much crowding in the various wards. Just imagine from thirty to thirty-five people in a ward where there should be only about twenty or twenty-two in order to comply with hygienic laws. There are not quite as many in the wards in the summer time, but that does not matter; the wards are overcrowded. There are not enough rooms for the insane, the criminal, the alcoholics, and other cases."

Not Half Enough Nurses. "Then as far as the nurses are concerned, there are not half enough. How can any one expect fifteen nurses to take care of about 160 or 170 patients? It is simply out of the question. Another great drawback is the fact that the hospital consists of a number of buildings scattered about the place. Rain or shine, day or night, the nurses are compelled to make their rounds in the different buildings. No sidewalks or pavements connect the buildings, and I have seen nurses beset with mud and drenched to the skin visiting the wards and doing their trying work. And I have seen some of these conscientious women break down under the terrible strain and weep. The work is too much for the force, and better results cannot be expected."

No Clothing for Patients. "Again, people will talk about patients being sent to the Government Hospital for the Insane from this institution almost naked. Whose fault is that? The asylum has hardly enough funds at its disposal to secure the most necessary medical supplies. There is no clothing fund available, out of which those poor people can be clothed. The asylum hospital lacks in almost everything to make it an institution such as it should be in order to reflect with credit on the Capital of the nation. I have traveled far, and have visited hospitals in distant climes, in Egypt, in Turkey, and other foreign countries. The Washington Asylum Hospital cannot even compare with hospitals to be found in countries which we imagine to be semi-barbaric."

Sane and Insane in One Room. "Repeatedly we were compelled to place in the same room two insane cases that were diametrically opposed in temperament. You may know what facilities are necessary when I tell you that ten new cases are brought to the hospital every day. And most of them are bad cases. "It was often a most difficult question to solve for the physician and nurses to dispose of and place these patients, and it is the same thing to this day. Lack of rooms compels them to place those not violently insane in the same ward with patients of sound mind."

Dr. Hickling Not to Blame. "Dr. Hickling cannot be blamed for this state of affairs. On the contrary, he is not only a most conscientious and painstaking physician, and has performed wonders with the small means at his disposal for the asylum, but he is a very shrewd manager. He takes personal interest in every case, and always instructs the nurses and physicians to report to him as to the needs of the institution and its inmates. If it was not for the deep interest Dr. Hickling takes in the welfare of the hospital and his incessant clamoring for additional funds to raise the place to a higher standard in every conceivable way, the hospital would be in still more deplorable condition."

Congress Has Been Indifferent.

"I was at the hospital for over a year. Not even once during that time did a committee of Congress, which is supposed to visit these places, consider it a duty to pay a visitation to the hospital and convince themselves of its needs. Supt. Zinkham, Dr. Hickling, the physicians and nurses, and the District Commissioners have every year performed their duty in calling the attention of Congress to the needs of the institution, but it seems Congress does not bother, but only cuts down the amount asked for by people who know what is needed."

"The fault lies with Congress. Dr. Hickling is doing the best he knows how."

WILL REQUEST MORE MONEY.

Commissioners Realize Conditions at Washington Asylum.

"At best, the Washington Asylum Hospital is a makeshift, as the Commissioners, the Board of Charities, and its superintendent have said to Congress, formally and informally, and as they will continue to say," said Commissioner Macfarland yesterday, in discussing the alleged inadequate provisions for the treatment of patients at that institution. "Personally, I have, through the newspapers and otherwise, done my utmost to arouse the community to see the necessity for removing the decent sick poor from the neighborhood of the jail and the workhouse and the company of the sick workhouse patients, who have to be worked for in the Washington Asylum, to proper buildings on Brightwood avenue."

"I shall continue to appeal to Congress and to the community for this, which is more needed than some other things which have been generally advocated. "The Commissioners have appealed to Congress session after session for larger forces and better pay for the employees of the hospital. It has been difficult to keep physicians and nurses because of the small pay and the peculiarly disagreeable character of the work, largely with a class of patients that other hospitals would not take. We shall continue to ask for a larger force and better salaries."

"The Commissioners have strongly recommended to Congress the transfer of the Washington Asylum Hospital to the site purchased for that purpose on the Brightwood road, and the erection of adequate buildings and modern equipment. In 1901 Congress appropriated $100,000 for the site of the hospital, and $70,000 of this sum was expended for the purchase of property on Brightwood avenue. Plans were obtained from Frank Miles Day, an architect of Philadelphia, which called for an expenditure of $1,000,000, and which provided for future additions, bringing the total cost to about $3,000,000. Opposition was aroused from interests which feared that the proposed hospital would affect them unfavorably, although there was no ground for their fear, and this, together with the fact that so many other large appropriations were necessary, has kept Congress from making the appropriation for the general hospital. It did, however, give the Commissioners, at their recent request, $100,000 for the tuberculosis ward of the proposed hospital, and this will be completed as soon as possible.

"We also obtained at the last session an appropriation for converting the old almshouse, near the Washington Asylum Hospital, into wards, for the care and detention of the insane and inebriates. The alterations are well advanced, and when Congress has added an additional force of employees will be a means of relieving the congested quarters of the hospital. "All this, however, refers to general conditions, and not to the recent charges against the management, which are to be investigated by the Board of Charities. According to my information, and to the former report of the board, conditions at the institution reflect most creditably on Mr. Zinkham, the superintendent."

Dr. E. Henry Hickling, visiting physician at the Washington Asylum Hospital, recognized also the present inadequacy of the force, owing to the small salaries paid at the institution.

"I have," said he, "recommended again and again, as has also Mr. Zinkham, the superintendent, and the Commissioners, that larger appropriations be made for the institution. These recommendations will be renewed at the coming session."

BOYS HELD FOR BURGLARY.

Two Youths Face Charge of Robbing Auto Store.

Charged with having broken into the store of T. N. Mudd, at 1219 New York avenue, and stolen several automobile attachments, Julius Brooks, aged fourteen, of 613 L street; John May, aged seventeen, of 221 Pennsylvania avenue, and William Lomax, aged seventeen, of 477 New York avenue northwest, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Howlett and Pratt.

The robbery was discovered last Monday morning, when Mudd called to his place of business. He found one of the shutters forced and one of the window panes broken. An automobile clock, several tires, and other automobile sundries had been taken. The police have been able to recover some of the articles.

WANT SALARIES INCREASED.

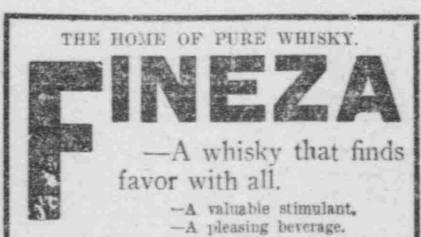

Sealer and Assessor Both Ask Higher Pay for Their Employees.

The estimates of the sealer of weights and measures as submitted by Col. W. C. Haskell to the Commissioners yesterday call for an appropriation of $14,440, an increase of $800, as compared with the present fiscal year. Col. Haskell recommends that the salary of George A. Howe, first assistant sealer, be increased from $1,400 to $1,500, and that of L. S. Schoenthal, second assistant, from $800 to $1,100. He also recommends an appropriation of $80 for an additional laborer.

E. W. W. Griffin, assessor of the District, yesterday submitted to the Commissioners his estimates of expenses for next fiscal year, a total of $81,000, as compared with the appropriation of $76,750 for the present fiscal year. An increase of salary from $1,300 to $1,500 of C. M. Davis, clerk, and from $1,200 to $1,400 of W. H. De Shields, W. H. Hamilton, Boyce R. Bolton, and J. W. Harman, is requested. An appropriation of $900 for an additional clerk and $2,500 for temporary clerk hire, is also recommended.

Store Service

This is a store for thinking people—those who see more than meets the eye.

It isn't the new things nor the things under price that crowd this store every day, but the long, long years of good service and fair dealing which have inspired you and us with confidence in each other.

You can copy the methods of a store, its advertisements, perhaps its goods, but you can never steal its spirit.

The copy is like a Photograph of Nature—without color—lifeless.

If all stores would do as well as they know, most stores would do better for you than they do.

Our Carpet Department

Is replete with the newest and most artistic patterns in all kinds of Floor Coverings. Every good make is represented, and the qualities are such as we can safely recommend. You will find no lower prices anywhere, and we make no charge for laying, lining, or sewing.
